Woman's Club Meeting

The women of the Newhall Woman's Club will hold an all day meeting at Hap-a-lan, Wednesday, Jan. 23. We want to make this, our first meeting of the new year, one of the most pleasant meetings that we have ever had. So come early, bring your darning or fancy work and let's have a real get-together day. There will be a lunch served at noon, for which a nominal price will be charged to defray expenses. There will be a speaker for the afternoon. We have a lot of work to do this year, so let us go to work with will and determination and we can accomplish much. Don't forget the date—Jan. 23.

Boy Scouts Gaining Members

The Boy Scouts want everyone who will, to join the Scout organization. Any boy over the age of twelve is eligible and fathers may become honorary members and will be very welcome. Any Boy Scout will be glad to help prospective members with the tests.

The boys have a meeting every Tuesday night, at the Presbyterian church and visitors are very welcome. At the meetings the boys play games and spend the time principally in a social way.

The Parent-Teacher organization is going to present the Boy Scouts with an American flag, and anyone else who wishes to make the boys a present may present them with a troop flag.

Community Presbyterian Church Notes

The subject of the Pastor's sermon will be "The Table of Remembrance" after which the communion service will be held and new members will be received into the church. Mrs. M. W. Lamberson will sing and the Young People's choir will sing.

The subject of the Sunday School lesson is "The Long Sojourn in Egypt."

The C. E. Service will be held at 7:00 p. m. You are invited to all of these services.

W. H. Evans and A. H. Wilkie attended the dinner at the Emanuel Presbyterian Church given by the Church Extension Board on Friday night. Plans were launched to organize a Building Fund Fellowship in order to give additional help to the churches that are erecting new buildings.

TWO BIG CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS FOR ELIZABETH LAKE CANYON DISTRICT

Elizabeth Lake canyon and the Warm Springs district, comprising some of the most beautiful and enchanting mountain country in the Santa Barbara National Forest, are at last coming into their own and are to be extensively developed. Plans are now being formulated to carry out several important construction projects in the districts named.

One of the big development programs is to be carried out by the San Fernando Valley Boy Scout's Council which maintains headquarters at Van Nuys. This worthy organization has already made application, thru District Ranger Peterson of Newhall, for a permanent camp site in the Lower Elizabeth Lake canyon, about five miles from Castaic, to comprise 50 acres of land. As Ranger Peterson is behind the boys' heart and hand, there is no doubt that their application for the site will be favorably considered.

The boys have a meeting every Tuesday night, at the Presbyterian church and visitors are very welcome. At the meetings the boys play games and spend the time principally in a social way.

The subject of the Pastor's sermon will be "The Table of Remembrance" after which the communion service will be held and new members will be received into the church. Mrs. M. W. Lamberson will sing and the Young People's choir will sing.

Leap Year Dance a Real Joy Festival

Those who were so unfortunate as to miss the Leap Year carnival dance at Hap-a-lan last Saturday night, missed one of the best dances that has happened in Newhall since we can remember. Everything was carried out with a view to showing the crowd a regular time, and we sure had it.

Music, favors, refreshments and hospitality—everything just as it should be to make a dance really delightful. If Hap-a-lan were twice as large it would no more than have comfortably accommodated the big crowd that packed it last Saturday night. As the mid-proposed activities at the camp.

The second big project in the Elizabeth Lake canyon country consists in the establishment and maintenance of a big summer resort by H. D. Huyler, who recently purchased the old McKee ranch of six acres at Warm Springs on Elizabeth Lake creek. Mr. Huyler intends to spend about $50,000 in carrying out his plans. These call for the construction of a beautiful hotel building, a number of cozy summer cottages, huge plunge, five miles of mountain auto road and a telephone line. The road is to extend from the Rhinart apiary in Lower Elizabeth Lake canyon to the Warm Springs which Mr. Huyler has leased from the Santa Barbara Forest under "special use" permit. The road is to cost about $100,000. The telephone line will be run from the lake to Castaic and will cost about $20,000. Work on the proposed road has already been commenced.

Both these big projects will eventually mean considerable to Newhall and Saugus.

Individual Forest Service cabin sites which may be taken up under "special use" permit are now available in Elizabeth Lake canyon and anybody who wants a real summer cabin site in this locality should make application to Ranger Peterson at an early date.

night hour approached, the hall presented the scene of a miniature Mardi Gras festival, confetti and streamers covering the floor like a carpet.

We understand that the five young ladies who gave this dance are planning to hold another one in the near future. Which information is indeed pleasing to listen to. As dance promoters de Luxe, Eleanor Schwaller, Irene Ruiz, Lucile Smith, Opal Houghton and Marian Foster win the gold medal.

The Newhall Woman's Club will hold a dance at Hap-a-lan on Saturday evening, Jan. 26. Ostrop's orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the occasion. Nuff sed!

Examination For Postmaster

A competitive examination for postmaster for the local postoffice will be held January 26, 1924. Anyone wishing to take the examination should apply to the Newhall postoffice for the blanks which should be filled out and sent to the Civil Service Department at Washington immediately.

According to announcements from Washington, there are three postoffice positions to be filled, Colfax, Moorpark and Newhall.

The examinations are to be held at Auburn and Los Angeles on the date given and may be taken at either place.

The local office pays $1200.00 a year.

Have you seen our habery line. We handle the Ide's guaranteed full cut and f. We can save you mo have a special price o through a month Tail

Miss Elizabeth Grinnell has returned to Berkeley where she is taking special studies. Mrs. Grinnell is in Newhall, at her "Castle-in-the-Air," for the winter. She has with her a grandson, Stuart Grinnell, who is attending High School at San Fernando. Stuart's father is a member of the university and has sent his son to spend the winter in Newhall. Mrs. Grinnell is having a little new addition to her castle. W. B. Young is the builder.

Bunny Ross, Roy Butler and G. T. Doelle motored to Ocean Park last Sunday evening to view the remains of the popular resort. The fire was still burning when they arrived.

In last week's Signal a serious error appeared in the poem "The Band of Gold." The first line of the second verse reads, "Now here's a woman we would proclaim." The word "woman should read "wonder." This beautiful little poem was contributed by a friend of the Signal and we very much regret the error.

Bogus Em-Dees

Astounding, incredible, fairly taking one's breath away, are facts just now coming to light as to so-called medical colleges and Kansas City which have scattered over the country great numbers of bogus diplomas and spurious M. D. degrees.

The medical faker is everywhere, apparently. Literally thousands of men and women about is broad land are practicing medicine without being in any real sense fitted to do so.

They have not the mental equipment of medicine or surgery or to general intelligence, and their being permitted to practice their power in their state licenses give them. These are mild words in the face of the awful details.

In reality these are crooks and criminals. Their very licenses were obtained by chicanery or worse. And back of them are the lying medical diplomas and fraudulent high school certificates.

Street car conductors, traffic cops, mechanics, bookkeepers, saleswomen, photographers and many others, uneducated and illiterate, have become "Doctors of Medicine" by a stroke of the pen, when they had the money to pay for it. Some of them never put in an hour's study on which to base these diplomas. Some never were in the city in which they were issued.

Under-surface rumblings of the past over this situation are well justified by the revelations--first in Missouri, and now in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and other states--as to the workings of these medical diploma mills in the two cities mentioned. Connecticut is one of the states where the men who operated the fake medical schools, who are now under indictment in Missouri, found it easiest to get state licenses for 'graduates'.

In numerous cases, of which particulars are already known, possessors of these St. Louis and Kansas City diplomas have purchased the practices of well known and reputable physicians, and with this leverage have found little difficulty in making their way into the confidence of the community. Doubtless many of them got into the army during the war.

In any case, some have turned up in veterans' hospitals, where the poor fellows who are wearing their lives out have had the care of these pseudo-physicians. Civil hospitals have had them on their staffs, and have still, for that matter--men with faked M. D. degrees who never completed a course in medicine or surgery, whose knowledge of anatomy is slight and of chemistry is slighter.

Such Stuff as Fads Are Made Of

It is peculiar that people so slight a regard for their body that they will use this vehicle for the exploitation of every kind of a fad, if the one sensible feature and all of them being for the purpose of making money.

When some one conceived the idea of an ever changing manner of dress with certain styles receiving the stamp of "fashion," a very wonderful invention was brot to lite. It should have been patented. And now it seems to make no difference whether the "latest style" has a grain of consistency to it or not. Someone, somewhere, said, "It will be worn this season," and that is enit. It is adopted. But in the meantime another and more up-to-date creation is appearing on the horizon and the old is quickly discarded as being extremely out of date.

Just now somebody is going to take the flatness out of his purse because of the decree that bobbed hair is passe. It was ordered in the European munition factories during the war that as a safety precaution, women workers bob their hair. This was done in a spirit of sacrifice. The fashion spread until it has become more or less universal. Now someone sees a medium for making a good bit of pocket money by selling "transformers," curls and puffs to conceal these bobbed heads. If the women follow their inclinations they will keep their hair bobbed because of the comfort and convenience and the artificial hair vender will be seeking financial returns in a different direction.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

"He bolts a sandwich and some beans,
A piece of court-ship;
And gulps a cup of coffee down
While you can bat your eye."

"Then, later on, there comes to him
A very potent question:
He wondered how it was that he

JESSE JAMES UP TO DATE

There's a dancing palace (?) down at "Venice by the Sea" where they teach jay-hawkers, suckers and other poor saphhead fish how to dance at 10c per-yes, per-haps. It's called the "Cussin-O," or should be, for that's what one feels like doing after he has escaped.
Jesse James, Steve Dalton and other antique daylight highwaymen had not a thing on the "Cussin-O" bandits, who give you gas and extract the dough fearlessly and painlessly, without the aid of a bronco or six-gun. Dances are 10c each, with instructor (?) This has a lovely, soft and soothing sound to it.
It's even music for the dumb and lots of dumbbells, who can't dance, and some who can, fall victims to the lure.
You four bits worth of "hop" and grab one of the instructors. The orchestra starts playing and you step out on a warped floor that hasn't tasted wax since Bryan first ran for President.

One has to be a human kite to navigate one-third the way around that dinky little hall before the orchestra stops.
Your first thin dime now makes way for mis-instruction No. 2. By actual time you never get more than thirty seconds dancing per dime. This is at the rate of $18.00 an hour, a very modest fee for dancing instructions.
The girls who teach you how to dance
—maybe—split fifty-fifty with the managers on the receipts of the evening.
Any one of those girls who doesn't own a mansion in the Wilshire district and drive a Lincoln sedan, [free publicity for H. F.,] must be a poor business woman.

The "Cussin-O" orchestree consists of almost two musicians and a banjo spanker. This "Jays Band" sure does know its stuff. As self-starters these boys are not so good; as self-stoppers they are the little black kitten's meow, believe me, Mawrus.

If Jesse James should return to earth today, he'd probably try to get a lease on the "Cussin-O," where he could get the money easier, quicker and safer than by stickin' up mail coaches of the Overland Limited.

"HIS CHILDREN'S CHILDREN"

"His Children's Children," shown at Cody's this week, brings forcibly to one's attention the fact that excessive wealth is by no means a foundation for real happiness. The picture is carefully constructed in every detail, showing the master touch of Sam Wood, the producer, both as to development and presentation. All the characters are distinctly drawn and true to type.
George Fawcett, as the "pirate" of Wall Street, who late in life finds religion, enacted his part with fine feeling. A more true to life portrayal of this character could not be asked for.

Bebe Daniels, as Diana, eldest daughter of the heir to the "pirate's" fortune, is exceptionally human in this picture. Bebe has had her cinema failures in the past, due to poor vehicles rather than thru lack of ability, but she is certainly all to the good in this play. James Rennie promises much as a leading man. He is an ideal type of screen hero and very easy to gaze upon. The photography and settings of this play are distinctly "Paramount"—a word synonymous with quality and effectiveness in silversheet productions.

HELP LOCATE THIS CRIMINAL

It is the duty of every loyal American citizen to co-operate with police officers in every way possible to bring criminals to justice. Sheriff Treager, of Los Angeles, is trying to apprehend one Harry Dunlap, known as the "Foothill" bandit, a criminal and a dangerous gun who chooses his victims from parties parked along the highway. Dunlap is a fugitive and is wanted for murder, rape and robbery and a reward of $250 is offered for information leading to his arrest. He is an American, 40 years old. High forehead. Light hair and almost bald. All teeth gold. One inch scar on right side of neck. 130 pounds.
Height, 5 ft. 5 1/2 in. If you come in contact with this party, notify Sheriff Treager, Constable Pilcher or Deputy Ed Brown or Henry Wertz.

SAUGUS ITEMS

W. W. Penhorwood, of the Saugus cafe and confectionery, left Monday on a combined business and pleasure trip for San Francisco and Bay cities. He will stop over at Fresno to visit his sister, Mrs. B. Neustadt, and expects to be absent about a week.

We recently had the pleasure of "listening in" on Fielding Wood's new Atwater-Kent radio, one of the clearest and most powerful reproducers of broadcastings in this vicinity. Mr. Woods has been able to hear Kansas city programs very distinctly and expects to do much better than this as he accumulates experience.

Depnty Constable J. E. Brown has returned from a trip to his McFarland property.

A. Mussey has recently had his house wired for electricity. Walter Neale did the work.

A new stove has been installed in the school house this week to the place of the one that mysteriously disappeared some during the Holiday vaca-ank Arnott who is in the City of Los Angeles is recovering from a serious illness.

Mr and Mrs. S. Markland were in Los Angeles Wednesday.

E. P. Neale, father of Walter E. Neale is at the California Hospital where he is recovering from an operation. Last Saturday Mr. Neale was given blood transfusion.

J. G. Wilson is registrar for voters for Saugus precincts one and two and everyone who expects to vote at the primaries in May for the fall election must register. The new law reads that any one who refuses to state party affiliations cannot vote at the primaries.

Mrs. McCarthy, formerly a resident of Saugus was calling on friends here.

Mrs. W. W. Penhorwood attended the Woman's Club tea at the Biltmore Monday. A fine musical program was rendered and a coterie of movie stars was present.

Joe Chacanaca and Miss Florence King of Boquet were married on New Years Day.

Mrs. Ruby Kellogg and Mrs. J. C. Haskell were Los Angeles visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. Clara Gray of Gardena was the guest last week of Mrs. Pinains.

CASTAIC NEWS

A fire was started last Sunday, in Charley canyon, by some hunters and the result was that the garage on the McElroy ranch was destroyed as well as the Studebaker belonging to the hunters. A crew of fire fighters went out under Deputy Firewarden Daries and the flames were soon put under control.

School opened Monday, following a three week's vacation. The children are very much pleased with the new acting bars and sand bars installed during vacation.

Melvin Neel, supervising teacher of this district, was a visitor at the school Tuesday.

Frances Cordova spent part of her vacation in town with her aunt, returning home for the opening of school.

Major Whitmore, of Pasadena, has been spending a few days at his ranch, supervising the planting of crops. Here's hoping we get some rain soon to help them along.

Ruth and Ruby Dodge are home again after spending two weeks in California with relatives and friends.

Hubert Brunner and sister motored to the big city Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and son have moved out to their ranch. It is known as the Parker home place. They have opened up a fine camp ground, electrically lighted. We are glad to welcome them among us and wish them much prosperity.

Nemesis Found Hirz

By ANTHONY REIMERT

(Copyright, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

SILENTLY the two men ate in the little snowbound cabin in the Northland. The stranger had arrived with his dog team that afternoon, but had given Jean Barthelémy no indication of his purpose, and it was not etiquette to inquire.

"That he was a policeman, Jean had no doubt. It was true he was not wearing the scarlet, but the police did not rig themselves out that way when they were on long, solitary patrols. And why else should any man penetrate to that remote region where he, Jean, had been trapping for two years?"

Jean had no doubt the stranger was a policeman, come to arrest him for the murder of two years before.

He had been deeply in love with pretty Marie Crot. He had returned from a long journey, and, looking through the window, had seen her in the arms of a stranger. Then, without a word, he had gone softly away.

There was some of the Indian in Jean, and he knew how to dissemble. He had ascertained that the man was sleeping at the house occupied by Marie and her mother. He had returned late at night, thrust a rifle through the window, and fired at the sleeping form. Then he had fled.

And now, after two years, Nemesis had found him in the Northland.

Occasionally the men exchanged a few remarks. The visitor tried to draw Jean out, but Jean was wary. He would not talk of himself, but, though the stranger did, Jean saw the look of the law.

"You must take the bunk," he said. "I will sleep on the floor."

The visitor demurred, but Jean insisted. Jean was very crafty. He was fighting for his freedom, fighting hard not to dance upon the air with a tempen cord about his neck.

He waited long that night in the darkness, until the regular breathing of his visitor told him that he was asleep. Then softly he crept to where his rifle stood in the corner.

He slipped a cartridge into the breach. Only for a moment he hesitated. It was the second judgment, and with the same rifle he had killed Marie's lover. He pointed at the bunk and fired.

The echoes of the explosion died away. Jean stood, white and trembling, mustering up the courage to go and look at the dead man.

Then a vast relief filled his heart. He was free now. None would know that the dead man had passed his cabin. In the morning he would dynamite a grave for him among the rocks and bury him deep. He struck a match with trembling fingers, and lit his lamp.

The bunk was empty!

Jean stared at it aghast. And suddenly a hand fell upon his shoulder from behind. He whirled about in terror.

The stranger was standing behind him. He motioned to Jean to put away his rifle. Jean mechanically obeyed.

"Now we can talk," said the other. "I suspected that you thought me a policeman, Jean Barthelémy, and, as you refused to be drawn out, I took the liberty of leaving my bunk softly, to prevent having a bullet hole drilled through me. Sure enough, I was right.

"And now, Jean Barthelémy, let me tell you that I know all about you. That man whom you saw in Marie's arms was her brother—"

Jean uttered an exclamation. "Just returned from the States. You shot him—"

"Ah, mon Dieu, kill me!" moaned Jean.

"But you did not wait to see if you had killed him. Fortunately your bullet only grazed his arm. Jean Barthelémy, I am that man you shot."

He smiled and clapped the other on the shoulder.

"Come up here to trace you, as soon as I could get away, and to tell you that Marie still loves you, and is waiting for you, Jean!"

Gasoline Decreases.

Gasoline stocks on hand at refineries throughout the country October 1, amounted to 972,694,832 gallons, a decrease of 81,000,000 gallons from the previous month's report. Production in September was 623,732,834 gallons, a decrease of 25,000,000 gallons over September, 1922. Domestic demand of gasoline in September was 655,357,616 gallons, which is 37,000,000 gallons less than for August, but 147,000,000 gallons more than for September of last year. The bureau estimates the present gasoline accumulation to represent a surplus of about 8 per cent over the normal gasoline supply for the entire country at this date for the past seven years.

No "Native" Home for Her.

She was an opulent person—dress and contour—and she was telling a real estate agent that she wanted to lease a house for a year. It must be in a desirable neighborhood, he absolvedly new and stylish and

The agent, who rightfully calls himself a wise old owl, suggested that it would be better to buy instead of leasing—and he would take her in his automobile to show—

But the client turned him off the same as if he were a gas jet. She wouldn't have it that way at all. What she wanted was a year's lease, because, as she explained:

"Bill Inside."

Bill Smith, a country shopkeeper, went to town to buy some goods. They were sent home before him. When the boxes arrived, Mrs. Smith, who was attending to the shop, uttered a scream, seized a hatchet, and began to force off the lid of the largest.

"What's the matter?" asked a bystander.

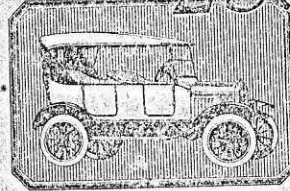

Pale and faint, Mrs. Smith pointed to an inscription on the lid. It read: "Bill Inside."

Prices of Treasures Now Secret.

The theft of the Gobelin tapestries from the Versailles palace, although followed quickly by the arrest of the supposed culprits, has frightened the guardians of France's artistic patrimony. The custodian of the palace, failing in his efforts to have an electric burglar alarm installed, has given strict orders to the attendants who show the public the sights of the building to refrain from telling the values of the various objects.

The New Touring Car $295

F.O.B. DETROIT

A Striking Value—at $295

Considering the improved appearance of the new Ford Touring Car, one would naturally expect a proportionate advance in price.

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser.

A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold.

The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.

Good Naval and Trading Bases.

As direct outlets for emigration, Japan's mandate islands, because of their restricted area, are of little importance. But as bases to facilitate naval operations and trading activities to the south and east they are comparable in importance to Hawaii as bases for the westward activities of the United States. And Japan means to make the islands "pay for their keep." She is stimulating the systematic planting of coconut groves, and her traders are fast replacing foreign goods in the islands with those of Japan. The islands add only a few thousand miles of territory and some 50,000 people to the Japanese empire. But the scattered points of land "fence in" approximately one million square miles of the Pacific.

Though Japan has grown to a greatness in world councils perhaps not dreamed of in 1853, the spirit of kindness then established between her and the United States by the visit of Commodore Matthew Galbraith Perry has continued to mark their relations. This opening of Japan to the world by an American constitutes one of the most important events in our history. The story of Perry's voyage to Japan has all the glamour of the stories of the Orient, and is fascinating beyond the imagination of the most fertile novelist. Armed with a letter from the president of the United States to his imperial majesty the emperor of Japan, saluted as a "Great and Good Friend," Commodore Perry made a thorough study of Japan and the Japanese character before starting on his epoch-making voyage.

He carried as presents specimens of the products of the farm and factory, which he thought by their novelty and usefulness would interest the people of Japan. A miniature locomotive, with tracks and rails to be laid down, one mile of telegraph line with Morse instruments, photograph cameras, etc.

The newest things in America, were in the cargo.

Commodore Perry's Diplomacy.

The story of his wisdom, his patience, his consummate diplomacy, going into weeks and months and years, the employment of every art that statesmanship and strategy could invent, is as thrilling today as when it was first told. He had gone to Japan with a friendly key to open the door for the furtherance of trade, the protection of life, and to obtain a treaty with a power destined to occupy a large place in the world. Hurrying nothing, observing every ceremony that could appeal to those he would win as friends, Perry's success marked him as a diplomat of the first water.

When the negotiations had reached a stage where the high contracting parties had about agreed, Hayashi wished to insert a clause that no American woman should be brought to Japan. Tradition has it that when this proposition was submitted the Commodore excitedly exclaimed, "Great heavens! If I were to permit any such stipulation as that in the treaty, when I got home the women would pull all the hair out of my head."

Overlooking a little harbor south of Yokohama stands a monument to Commander Perry, commemorating the sailor-diplomat whose wisdom made Japan and America know and esteem each other. The spirit of Perry and Hayashi still pervades both countries, which, in the language of the letter borne by Perry, "Live in friendship and commercial intercourse with each other."

Mr. and Mrs. Mint Canyonite have you that how you are going to help plan and build a school house large enuf to hold community entertainments? It would be wonderfully convenient to have a suitable building in our own canyon in which we and our children can be interested and one that is large enuf to accommodate our families and friends. It also would add dignity to our growing community. By all means let us work for it. You know "where there's a will there's a way." Let's get together and talk it over.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pike and their little son Richard Allan are enjoying an extended visit with Mrs. Pike's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Smith of Dry Canyon.

Miss Sara Whiteside who is employed by a silk concern in Los Angeles visited with her parents the Hope Sunday.

The many friends of Chester Johnson will be sorry to learn that he was taken by ambulance to the General Hospital in Los Angeles, last Friday. He is slightly improved.

In the way of improvements taking place, Mr. J. M. Walker is building living apartments in the rear of what is known as Home Filling Station in upper Mint while Mr. Harris of the Solamint Grocery is erecting a good sized garage on his place.

Homer Schmidt visited over the weekend with his parents in Soledad Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tegler and little daughter Maxine of Sterling have moved to Wilmington where Mr. Tegler was transferred by the P. C. B. Co. Thru the closing down of the mine the community loses some of its best families.

Mr. Nordham and family of Los Angeles were looking over the Gypsum property in which Mr. Nordham has an interest.

Mr. G. Harris who has been employed at the P. C. B. plant at Sterling for the last twelve years has been given a position at the Company's Wilmington refinery at Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hilton and daughter Cora and son "Buddy" accompanied by Grandpa Hilton all of Glendale had picnic lunch in Mint last Sunday and incidentally called on old neighbors.

With the completion of the new dining room at Balestier's another attractive feature is added to this place. The room is 25x32 and is finished in Mission style, while the hardwood floor is ideal for the diners to dance. Eight tables are placed near the walls accommodating 32 guests. A delightful place to entertain your friends with dinner, dance and music.

Mr. and Mrs. Helm Schmidt of the G S ranch spent several days in San Diego.

Last Tuesday nite Mr. Schoenauer was reminded of his birthday when a host of his neighbors pounced in upon him unexpectedly. However, he soon rallied as the merriment increased and was able to take refreshments that were served at a late hour. The time for going home came only too soon when the happy returns of the occasion were expressed.

On Saturday nite January 26th, the Newhall Woman's Club will give their first dance of the New Year. Mrs. Allie Carr, chairman, is with her committee endeavoring to make the evening a success and to please the many prospective guests. Ernie Ostrup's orchestra has been engaged for that evening and everyone knows how it can play. So everybody is invited to attend and assist the ladies in their efforts to raise funds with which to build a club house.

Mr. H. W. Balestier met with an automobile accident in which his Cadillac was totally wrecked when it came in contact with a pole at the intersection of the Lankershim and San Fernando roads. Mr. Balestier is quite indisposed and his friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Baja CALIFORNIA

Creeping Devil Cactus of Lower California.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)
 Lower California, across a part of which the path of the recent total eclipse of the sun passed, and to which parties of scientists journeyed to make observations, seldom comes to the notice of the world's interest. While its neighbor above the United States border—of which it was once almost a part—is famed throughout the world and visited by scores of thousands of tourists, the Mexican land of the same name with a recorded history which goes back almost four centuries and is crammed with varied events, still remains one of the least-known parts of North America.

Lower California—or Baja California, to give it its Mexican name—is the long, narrow peninsula that projects about 800 miles southeasterly from the southern border of California. Its width varies from about 30 to over 100 miles, and its regular coastline, over 2,000 miles long, is bordered by numerous islands. Being mainly a mountainous, desert region, it is thinly peopled and presents many sharply contrasting conditions. Here, low, sun-scoured plains, where death by thirst awaits the unwary traveler, lie close to the bases of towering granite peaks, belted with waving pine forests and capped in winter by gleaming snow.

Vast desolate plateaus of ragged black lava embosom gem-like valleys, where verdure-bordered streams and the spreading fronds of date palms recall the mysterious hidden vales of the "Arabian Nights." Its western coast is bathed by cool waters and abundant fogs, while the eastern shore is laved by the waves of a warm inland sea, sparkling under almost continuous sunshine.

The early chronicles tell of its discovery in 1533, by an expedition sent out by Cortes in search of a fabulously rich island said to have been inhabited by Amazons.

It has been estimated that at the time of its discovery the peninsula, including many of the bordering islands, was peopled by about 25,000 Indians. The inhabitants vigorously resisted the intrusion of newcomers, and for more than a century efforts to establish military colonies in the new land resulted in disastrous failures.

Jesuits Opened It Up.
 Then the occupation of Lower California was put in the hands of the Jesuits, and their missionaries were wonderfully successful. They explored all parts of the peninsula and established missions throughout most of its extent, at the same time introducing many of the crops and fruits of the Old world.

In addition they established the three main trails, which extend practically the entire length of the peninsula, and to this day serve as the regular routes of travel. One leads along each coast and the third down the mountainous interior. The coast trails are easier to travel, because less broken, but the interior trails are used, owing to its better grazing and more numerous water holes.

The records of the dangers and obstacles met and overcome by such men as Padres Salvatierra, Kino, and Ugarte in their peaceable conquest of the peninsula excite one's deepest admiration. The work they accomplished and their resourcefulness and steadfast courage entitle them to a place in the front ranks of those stout-hearted pioneer explorers who first made known the wildest parts of America.

Reported To by Freebooters.

During one period in its history the southern shores of the peninsula served as the lurking place of Sir Francis Drake and other freebooters lying in wait for the treasure-laden Spanish galleons on their annual voyages from Manila to Mexico.

Afterwards, during the first two-thirds of the last century, those shores were visited by numerous half-pirate smugglers and by fleets of whalers and sealers, drawn there by the swarming abundance of whales, fur seal, sea elephants, and sea otter. So ruthless was the pursuit of these animals that in a few decades they were on the verge of extermination, and the business ended, apparently forever.

The pearl fisheries of the Gulf coast were extremely productive at first and furnished the Spanish court with some of its richest jewels. Pearl fishing still survives as a profitable industry, and is in the hands of two or three concessionaires with headquarters at La Paz.

A few silver mines, notably at Triunfo, in the south, and Las Flores, on the Gulf coast, have been worked profitably. Onyx is mined and shipped to California, and enormous salt deposits exist on the shores of the Santa Clara desert and on Carmen Island.
