

The Newhall Signal

VOLUME SIX

NEWHALL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1924

NUMBER 28

"For Each Other---Not Against Each Other."

Davis and Bryan Nominated; 103 Ballots

After a contest lasting over two weeks, the above ticket resulted. Davis is credited to west Virginia, but lives in New York, and is the attorney of J. P. Morgan. Bryan is governor of Nebraska, and is a brother of W. J. Bryan.

WOMAN'S CLUB DANCE

The Newhall Woman's Club Fourth of July dance held at Hap-a-lan Hall Friday nite was both a social and financial success. The music furnished by Ostrup's Orchestra was enjoyed by the many present.

The nature of the occasion called for patriotic decorations which are the Club colors. A great flag covered the rear of the platform and as the lites were turned off, save those that shone on Old Glory, the orchestra played Star Spangled Banner accompanied by the humming of the dancers.

The grand march was led by the Rodeo queen, Miss Mary Lowden and Judge Miller. At the head stood little Lora Thompson with a flag tied with the Club colors.

Added to the gaiety of the evening was the tossing of many colored balloons from the rostrum by two of the Queen's attendants.

Mrs. J. C. Haskell of Saugus was chairman of the committee having charge of the evening's entertainment. Many were the unique surprises in evidence that kept the crowd in a happy mood.

Mrs. Haskell gave unselfishly of her time to make this a nite of pleasure and the thanks of the Club are extended to her and to her assistants. The Club also wishes to thank the friends and patrons for their hearty support.

Refreshments for the evening were under the able supervision of the Study Section.

All in all it was a wonderful success.

The refreshment stand that was conducted thru the three days of Rodeo festivities by Mesdames Bailey-Taylor, Lane, Perkins and Haskell was well patronized. The nursery placed conveniently proved to be a boon.

Mrs. Suraco had her car for short, hurried trips. Lloyd Houghton made necessary trips for refreshments. These and many others helped to make the refreshment stand a success.

Mr and Mrs Benjamin Strahm of Los Angeles spent the weekend with Mrs Strahm's aunt, Mrs R. F. Woodard.

A Pretty Church Wedding

A wedding of much interest occurred this week when Miss Corinne Robertson became the bride of Mr. Stacy R. Woodard, the ceremony taking place at the Congregational church in South Pasadena, July 8, 1924. Rev. Barnes, pastor of the church, and a close friend of the bride's family officiated.

The church was prettily decorated for the occasion in dahlias and ferns, the beautiful flowers coming from the garden of a friend.

The young couple were attended by Mr. Horace Woodard and Miss Dorothy Page, and only immediate relatives and friends were present.

The bride who made her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Marie Johnson in Los Angeles, has for the past two years taught the school at Sterling, where she endeared herself to both pupils and patrons of the school.

The groom is the son of Mr and Mrs R. F. Woodard, well-known residents of this place. He attended school here, and is popular with every one.

The young couple are now on their honeymoon to some place unknown to their friends. After their return they will reside in Saugus, where Mr. Woodard is manager for his father, of the Woodard Cafe.

We join hosts of friends in extending good wishes and congratulations.

R. R. Thompson underwent a severe operation Saturday evening, and is now recovering nicely.

Born.

On July 4, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Carson, a son, weight 9 1/2 pounds. The young man has been named Richard Lee Carson.

It is stated that James Montgomery Flagg, the noted artist attended the Rodeo, Sunday.

A. D. Staukey, who has been living in one of the Wilkie houses, has received the necessary papers to admit him to a government hospital, as a veteran of the World War, and will leave as soon as final arrangements are completed.

Presbyterian Church Notes

Last Sunday morning the pastor told of his visit to New York. Next Sunday morning he will take his congregation on a trip to the nation's capital. Mr. Evans spent two days in Washington, where he visited the capitol when congress was in session, the White House, Mt. Vernon, Arlington, General Lee's old home, the treasury building, where he watched them make paper money, and a number of other important places.

In the evening the new president, Edwin Thompson will have charge of the meeting and appoint his committees. Last Sunday evening the new officers of the society were installed by the retiring president, Donald Frew. They are: President, Edwin Thompson; Vice-President, LaVon Harker; Recording Secretary, Mrs. T. M. Frew; Corresponding Secretary, Naomi Lamkin; Press Secretary, W. M. Evans; Treasurer, J. R. Rolls; Song Leader, A. H. Wilkie.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank those who so generously assisted at the Woman's Club stand during the Rodeo. We especially thank the Club husbands who helped with the harder work.

Committee

Conserve On Lites

Conservation of electric power to the 25 per cent margin is declared to be necessary to prevent serious complications during the present water shortage and H. G. Butler, power supervisor for the railroad commission, has ordered that all sign and exterior display lites be discontinued excepting on Sundays.

The first two weeks of the power conservation campaign resulted in a 12.5 per cent saving, which is just half of the amount needed according to charts made by the Edison Co.

By the last of this week every steam generating power plant in Southern California will have been placed in operation.

Consumers of electricity are requested to use gas when possible. Extra power plants are being utilized to replace water power.

RODEO DANCE SUCCESS

The Rodeo dance given Saturday nite by Mesdames Haskell and Houghton at Hap-a-lan Hall was the last, social affair of the season, bringing together a large crowd of our jovial citizens and many Rodeo performers.

Ernie Ostrup's five piece orchestra furnished music unsurpassed in our experience.

Patriotic horns denoting liberty and plenty were souvenirs of the evening and some must have been worn out. Only Ernie's orchestra could have out done those numerous horns. Folks are still talking about the dance and humming the enchanting airs.

The Rodeo.

The Signal had, arranged with a party to furnish an account of the Rodeo, together with the list of prize winners, and depended on this arrangement until it was too late to supply the place except in this brief way.

The management put on a good show and every contestant did his level best to win the prizes, as to entertain.

To one who has never seen the work of the cattle men, everything was certainly interesting and instructive, while to those who had seen it before came thrilling memories of olden days, and other Rodeos or round-ups, when all outdoors was the field, and danger was so common that the participant never thought of leaving off the six-shooter, and cattle had three-foot horns and would use them. Bronc riding, cowboy races, the old time mounain stage coach, all were there to be enjoyed and appreciated—but the crowd didn't come. Despite the small attendance however, the show was put on for the three days as advertised.

The usual time for holding the Rodeo is near May 1st, but the prevalence of the hoof and mouth disease caused the postponement.

Quite an array of movie talent was on hand during the entertainments, among those noted as present being Harry Carey, "Buck" Jones, Bill Hart and others.

We will try to give the list of prize winners in next week's issue of the Signal.

The sympathy of the whole nation goes to President and Mrs. Coolidge in their sorrow for the loss of their son. And none will share their grief more sincerely than those of us who have passed through the same bitter experience.

The immense volume of truck transportation over California roads is bringing a road problem that cannot be postponed much longer. Some action, some additional facilities, either widening or building exclusive truck roads, or some other practical way, will be necessary to keep transportation going. And the movement should not be too long delayed, or the present roads will weaken and break under the strain, beyond repair. It is time to begin plans, for the demand will even then be unfulfilled until the pressure becomes too great to be ignored.

The democratic convention at New York is still in session at this writing, and seems as hopelessly tangled as ever. McAdoo finally withdrew, in favor of Meredith, of Iowa, tho it is very unlikely that this will help Meredith's case, because it has been evident from the start that the Smith delegates are against everything McAdoo is for. Chances are very great now that there will be no nomination, unless the delegates leave for home in such numbers that a few men can dictate the nomination. In that case the nominee will have about as much chance of election as has the proverbial snowball in the hot place. And while Al Smith has also withdrawn, his supporters may be able to nominate him. In which case the democratic fireworks will be well worth observing.

The writer has no particular interest in the candidacy of Congressman Lineberger, but when an opponent is brought out against him on the sole ground that he did not support President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill, it is time to call a halt. To demand that every congressman obey the president is contrary to American principles, and cannot be too strongly condemned. It must never be permitted an executive to dictate who shall make the laws, and what laws they may or may not support, in order not to incur executive wrath:

FOREGLEAMS

By MARY COOKMAN

Dearest guest of my thoughts is that perfect Day,
The land of beginning again;
Its scenes all about me will linger and stay
Till I fancy I dwell on that plane.

Present shades quickly pass when that guest of foregleam
Around me its bounties display,
And thrills me with visions of life evergreen
In vestures that never decay.

No serious dangers to make us afraid,
When nations can walk without pall;
Then Time will not have any edge on its sword,
So cutting off cannot befall.

O, blessed we will live, in the land of our dreams
Where suns never set, but will stay,
For all will feel best, when they do the right things
In the realms of that Perfect-Day,

Dots and Dashes.

Don't forget the entertainment at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening July 17, given by Rudeen, the great whistler and bird imitator. Refreshments will be served by Elenor Shaffer and her committee. This entertainment is given under the auspices of the Sunday School for the benefit of the song book fund. A silver offering will be taken.

Dr. Sarah L. Murray will be in her office as usual on Tuesday, July 15.

Little Miss Louise Shaffer of Owensmouth is visiting her grandparents, Mr and Mrs. Alex McGregor, in Placerville.

Mr and Mrs Wilkie made a trip to Downey Tuesday, where Mrs Wilkie will visit for several days.

Mrs C. I. Irby and children, Billie and Louise, will move back here from Los Angeles, occupying the Swall house recently vacated by Mr and Mrs Hinrichs.

Mr and Mrs H. J. Hinrichs have taken charge of the W. S. Hart ranch, moving in last week.

Mrs Kenneth Thompson was up from Los Angeles, Monday.

MIRAGE

By JAMES EDWARD HUNGERFORD
In "Outdoor Recreation."

Sometimes I follow the make-believe trail,
Where the pot-o-gold rainbow gleams,
An' fashion myself a romance tale;
O' the stuff that the world calls dreams;
I lay on my back on the silver sands
O' the desert on lonely nights,
An' I drift away to enchanted lands,
On some funny adventure flights.

I seem to forget I'm a "desert rat"—
Just a "drifter"—aroom,
With some rags fer clothes, an' a battered hat—
An' a longin' for home-sweet-home;
An' I dream that I am a Nabob fine,
Or a Prince o' the Golden Fleece,
An' all the gold in the world is mine—
An' I'm livin' in princely ease!

An' the star-flecked sky is my canopy,
An' my blanket—a bed o' kings,
An' the wealth o' the world belongs to me,
An' some planets—an' other things
An' the wind a-singin' across the sand
Is a-playin' me symphony airs,
On the cactus harps, with a master hand—
Just to make me forget my cares.

Then I sudden wake to the world that is,
An' the dream-stuff fades away,
An' the sun comes up, with a burnin' sizz—
An' the silv'ry sands turn gray;
I am back again in the land o' real,
In my rags an' my battered hat,
But somehow, pard, I have got the feel—
Those dreams 'll come true at last!

Approximately 15 miles of the Ridge Road proper runs thru the Santa Barbara National Forest.

Any person who defies a ranger to uphold the law on a National Forest, virtually becomes an outlaw with a price on his head.

Every year, according to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, forest fires destroy sufficient timber to construct 80,000 five-room houses. And, with few exceptions, forest fires are monuments to negligence and carelessness.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR CAMP FIRE

There absolutely no excuse to offer for the camper, who, on pulling out of camp, leaves his fire burning. No man should be so much in a hurry as to neglect to obey the paramount forest law. And no man should THINK that his fire was out when he left it. He should KNOW! It is generally conceded that a ranger will give a person a second chance who thoughtlessly or unknowingly commits a minor offense contrary to forest regulations. But deliberately or carelessly leaving a burning camp-fire is a crime that no sincere ranger will allow to go unpunished.

SAVING PAPER SAVES FORESTS

The paper manufacturers of the United States alone pay the waste paper men $50,000,000 a year. And this represents about two million tons of waste paper, which is the average consumption of the mills of the country. Were it not for the utilization of waste paper, there would be a depletion of the forests amounting to some three hundred thousand acres of timberland every year.

The panicky gentleman who woke up the ranger at midnight to tell him which was between 20 and 100 miles out of the ranger's division, as the crow flies, had evidently been informed beforehand as to what a sweet and amiable (?) disposition said ranger possessed.

Forest service men and fire fighters in the Northern California counties have been doing some valiant work the past two weeks in the way of fire suppression. Battling against terrible odds they have finally fought the worst fires to a standstill, after the flames have eaten up property and watershed valued at close to $2,000,000. And the fire hazard season has scarcely commenced.

Fireworks of any description are absolutely prohibited within the boundaries of a National Forest and tourists and campers who persist in bringing them into a forest may be requested to leave them in charge of a forester until leaving the forest.

Dots and Dashes

Walter King, who was manager for so long of the W. S. Hart ranch, has gone to Montana, it is stated.

Louie Zeigler has taken a position as assistant dispatcher in the forestry service, and began work July 1st.

Mr and Mrs Walton Young left for a month's vacation on the eve of July 7th. They will stop over in San Francisco for a few days, where Mr. Young receives his 35 year service pin from the Standard Oil Co. They will then continue on north into the Canadian Rockies, visiting Jasper National Park, and then on to Prince Rupert, and take boat for Alaska, returning by the inside passage to Vancouver, B. C. They will then visit relatives and friends in Washington and Oregon on their way home.

W. M. (Pat) Mullen is authority for the statement that a young man who makes his headquarters in upper Mint Canyon is in the matrimonial market. The matter was turned over to the office poet, who mixed up a little lie, gasoline and ink, and hammered out the following:

A young man whose name is not Ban-
yon
Is said to want a companion;
He'll buy her a ring 'n most ev'ry-
thing,
And take her to live in Mint Canyon.

Mr and Mrs M. W. Shepard, their two daughters, Mrs George Dromgole and Miss Theda, and Mrs Shepard's sister, Mrs H. S. Aylsworth of Long Beach, left Sunday by auto for Seattle, from which place they will sail for Alaska. They will be gone a month or six weeks.

D. E. Bates and Harry Tobias, of Los Angeles, were in Newhall Thursday, looking at some town property with a view to investment.

Mrs C. Thompson came up Los Angeles, Monday, and is visiting at the home of her son, R. R. Thompson.
